Veteran Bethel responder seriously injured in ambulance accident

By ALISON ALOISIO

EMT Arlene Greenleaf of Bethel is in rehabilitation at Ledgeview Living Center after an ambulance crash in Turner last week that took the life of a MedCare paramedic.

Greenleaf, 68, is a longtime member of Bethel Rescue and its former director.

Last Thursday morning at about 3 a.m. she was driving for the MedCare ambulance service on Route 4, transporting a patient to CMMC.

The ambulance collided with a pickup truck when the pickup reportedly pulled out in front of Greenleaf.

The truck was driven by Christopher Boutin, 29, of Turner, who was also seriously injured in the crash, according to police.

Paramedic Allan Parsons, 46, of Wilton was killed.

Parsons was in the rear of the ambulance caring for the patient.

Greenleaf sustained serious

Kezar Lake retreat is now arts camp for Maine kids

By TONI SEGER

For a century, Hewnoaks on Kezar Lake, Lovell, was the private retreat of the artistic Volk family.

Patriarch Leonard Volk's life mask of Abraham Lincoln rests in the Smithsonian.

His son, Douglas' work is in the National Gallery in Washington and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Hewnoaks was where generations of the men's family spent summers with artistic friends exploring mediums of art and craft.

Now the 14-acre historic property of sloping hills, scenic views and summer cottages will house an arts education camp for disadvantaged children.

The new Arts Education Center at Hewnoaks is a two-week residential program for Maine teens ages 13 to 15.

At full capacity, 25 young people will participate each session.

Creative writing, poetry, photography, theater, including stagecraft, fine and creative arts are on the program,

Report offered as 'toolbox' for planning and conservation efforts

By ALISON ALOISIO

What parcels of local land do residents view as important?

How can towns raise funds to establish a town or community forest?

How can a landowner arrange a conservation easement or limited development subdivision?

The authors of the recently released Mahoosuc Region Resources Report hope residents will use it to answer those and other questions about conservation and economics.

The report is the result of the Mahoosuc Initiative, a project of the Mahoosuc Land Trust, Androscoggin River Watershed Council and Tri-County Community Action Program.

Most of the report contains information that was already in existence. But before this, "No one has tried to put it in one place so you can look at it all at once," said Jim Mitchell, executive director of the Mahoosuc Land Trust.

The Mahoosuc region sits astride the Maine-New Hampshire border and includes most of the Bethel area.

Volumes I and II of the report are now available in area town offices and the Bethel, Rumford and Andover libraries.

Volume I provides informa-

VALUED PLACES

As part of the information-gathering process that went into preparing the Mahoosuc Region Resources Report, residents were asked to pinpoint on a map areas important to them for a variety of purposes: recreation, forestry, open space, heritage and ecology. This composite map represents all places mentioned, regardless of the reason for their value.

Comments sought on future direction of Wildlife Refuge

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A recently released draft comprehensive plan for the Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge recommends more than tripling the total acreage of the refuge over the next 15 years.

The draft also recommends increasing the intensity of efforts to protect the biological integrity and diversity of the refuge, as well as the health of the lake and its associated rivers and tributaries.

The refuge was established in 1992, with the goal of providing long-term protection for unique wetlands (including the lake's 850-acre Floating Island National Natural Landmark), as well as threatened and endangered species (including the bald eagle), and migratory birds "of conservation concern."

The refuge currently includes 20,919 acres of significant wildlife habitats in Coos County, N.H. and Oxford County, Maine.

Much of the land lies along the shore of Lake Umbagog,

Bethel Selectmen will see to sidewalk decisions in September

Second public hearing expected

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It's back to the drawing board for the Mason Street sidewalk.

Following the well-attended public hearing Monday evening, Bethel selectmen voted unanimously to put off a final decision on whether or not to accept nearly $100,000 in state funds earmarked for building a sidewalk between Broad Street and Crescent Park School.

The board plans to take the question up again at a meeting in early September, at which time a second public hearing on the proposal will be held.

In the interim, Town Manager Scott Cole is to develop a detailed proposal — not only for the sidewalk itself, but also for any associated alterations that should be made to traffic flow, signage and/or parking on Mason Street.

A block party?

Monday's public hearing drew a standing-room-only crowd of more than 30 people into the small Town Office

BAD IDEA ... AND WRONG POND

To the Editor:

I do not presently live in Locke's Mills, but I was born and raised there, in the white house on Route 26/Main Street bounded by the water's edge of Locke's Pond. Yes, Locke's Pond, which is the correct name for the mill pond from the dam to the "Tank" (railroad bridge) and a segment of Alder Stream when Mr. Locke erected the first dam behind Mellen Kimball's house back in the early 1840s.

It's understandable that Mr. Lawrence, a resident of Woodstock, does not know one pond from another in Greenwood, but for the sitting members of the Greenwood Planning Board to not know one pond from another in the township they conduct planning for, is ridiculous.

Round Pond, which the board voted 5-0 for allowing the marina to be situated in, is that body of water on the other side of the railroad tracks, extending for 0.8 miles from the bog to the South Pond sand bar, or 0.9 miles if one measures to the little causeway linking an island to the Greenwood Road, and comprises an area of 0.16 square miles.

How the Planning Board, in determining whether the Locke's Pond they erroneously refer to as Round Pond, is legally a lake or a stream, came up with the opinion that a millpond is a lake, is beyond comprehension even for we mere high school graduates.

Mr. Lawrence's permit to build a small marina on Round Pond may be valid and legal, but is for Round Pond and not Locke's Pond, so he really ought to buy a piece of shorefront property on that body of water.

Were I still a resident or a member of the Planning Board, I would have many questions for Mr. Lawrence, among them:

1) Why are you not striving to situate this perceived money-making enterprise on Lake Christopher in Woodstock, where you reside?

2) Have you ever been to the Allagash and other regions of northern Maine that do have streams 200 feet wide and 30 feet deep, or driven through Meredith, N.H., where the lake is barely visible due to the armada of boats moored to Main Street docks?

3) Where do you get the idea that most of those renting your docks will be residents of Greenwood foregoing their age-old fiscal prudence, over convenience of utilizing the town's boat ramp and conserving hard-earned dollars whenever they want to go boating?

4) What's the first thing most people seek returning to dock after several hours boating, and are you footing the bill to provide and maintain on-site nature facilities?

The members of Greenwood's Planning Board should be listening to and heeding what the residents of the town are saying to them in regard to the "Round Pond" marina.

HEALING FIELD FLAGS

To the Editor:

On Veterans Day The American Legion Family will post 25,000 eight-foot tall American flags filling Capitol Park in Augusta and flowing south through participating communities along the byways of I-95 and the Maine Turnpike, to the New Hampshire border.

The flags will follow the on and off ramps of I-95 and into participating host towns along the way.

Paul Swenson, founding sponsor of the Colonial Flag Foundation, administrators of the Healing Field® program, announced that this will be the largest Healing Field since the introduction of the programs in September of 2002. And we want Bethel to be part of it!

This temporary memorial will honor our veterans and their service given to our country, as well as to honor lives lost in tragedy and to heal us all by encompassing the American spirit.

The US flags will be posted by volunteers and sponsored for $15 (and for an additional $5 a special message can be attached) by area businesses, individuals and Legionnaires. At the end of the event the flags can be taken home and flown proudly to continue the tribute or donated back to the "Flag in Every Classroom" in Maine program sponsored by the state of Maine American Legion family organization.

Event sponsors are also being sought.

Anyone interested in learning more about this project or to become part of this beautiful tribute are urged to stop by the Healing Field Booth on Mollyockett Day or contact me (824-2158 or 824-2532).

The flags will be up for a period of one week. Most sites will start on Friday and Saturday prior to Nov. 11 for set up and then come down on the following weekend. At the conclusion of the field, people may pick up their flag, pole, ribbon, and rebar on Saturday, Nov. 17 (site to be determined).

Volunteers are welcome for set up and take down.

All net proceeds raised from this event will benefit the veterans programs of the state of Maine. Contact information, continuing updated details and sponsorship information available at www.healingfield.org/maine.

CAR SHOW BENEFITS KIDS

To the Editor:

On Mollyockett Day, July 21, the Telstar school community has an opportunity to raise funds for Telstar students during the seventh annual Telstar Car Show. Three school organizations are participating in this event.

The Class of 2009 will be selling food at the show. Coffee, muffins and lunch items will be on the menu for the day. Parents of the Class of 2009 who wish to support their child's class can contact Joannie Kimball at 824-3191 to donate food or volunteer to help out.

The Class of 2008 will also help out at the show by collecting spectator donations at the gate and holding a 50/50 raffle. The drawing will take place at the conclusion of the show. All Telstar seniors are invited to represent your school and help out at the show. Please contact your senior class officers for more details.

Friends of Telstar are organizing the July 21st Car Show. Proceeds benefit the students at Telstar Middle/High School. College scholarship money is also awarded every year by the Telstar Friends group.

The original idea behind Mollyockett Day was to raise funds for charitable organizations. On Saturday, July 21, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. help keep that vision alive. Visit the fields at Telstar to help raise funds for our local kids who attend Telstar Middle/High School.

QUILT SHOW THANKS

To the Editor:

The 17th Quilt Show of the Cross Country Quilters was successfully held at the Middle Intervale Meetinghouse last weekend. The show was visited by several hundred visitors from throughout Maine, as well as those visiting Bethel from all over the USA.

On Friday afternoon the show received a special guest, Florence Hastings. Mrs. Hastings, age 102, has been a lifelong resident of the Intervale Road and has herself produced many lovely quilts.

The proceeds are donated for the preservation of this historic site. It has served many purposes over the years, but none more beautiful than this display of local quilts. There were 122 quilts displayed and all agreed that the needlework was something to behold. The country setting just added to the feeling of an old-time quilt show. Iced tea from a recipe long handed down, accompanied by goodies from local kitchens bid the visitors a "thank you for coming."

The centerpiece of the show was a hand-sewn and hand-quilted heirloom bedcover done by Mabel Kennett. Three years of careful work resulted in a true prizewinner. Along both sides of this special quilt were four large "dahlia" quilts all made by members of the Cross Country Quilters. At the rear of the building was a large quilt of smaller dahlias made by the group for the benefit of the Bethel Library. This is a yearly project done for the library and the winning raffle ticket is drawn each year at the Fall Harvest Celebration. The pews and walls between these "dahlias" were lined with a variety of colors and patterns both new an antique.

There were special corners holding particular projects of the members — 12 "Mystery Quilts," and "Textures of Life," a display of healing quilts made for Bethel families by Donna Gillis.

The Quilt Shop at the Rostay set up a tent just outside the door to provide visitors and fellow quilters with a chance to find a new quilt to create or to pick up an extra fat quarter — an irresistible purchase for most quilters. The group feels fortunate that Cathy Thrall, the owner, is also a member of the group.

The Cross Country Quilters host this event every two years, and are already thinking about the next one in June 2009. Many stitches are in the planning stage and will be finished just in time to once again provide visitors with a unique experience. A big "Thank You" to all that helped make this a success and to all our visitors for their support.

leg injuries in the crash, and was taken to CMMC.

She was listed in good condition there on Wednesday morning, and was expected to be transferred to Ledgeview in West Paris later in the day.

A benefit event for her is being planned (see Letter to the Editor, Page 2).

Greenleaf has served Bethel Rescue for more than 30 years, 18 of them as director. She was honored several years ago with a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Maine Emergency Medical Services.

Rescuers vulnerable

Paramedics and EMTs who ride in the rear of an ambulance are particularly vulnerable to injury in an accident, said Cheryl Bennett, director of Bethel Rescue.

If the patient's condition requires constant monitoring, she said, rescuers must lean over and move around. As a result, they are often unable to ride buckled up with a seat belt.

But, Bennett added, "this will probably be a wakeup call" for emergency personnel to buckle themselves in as often as the situation allows.

Sidewalk

meeting room.

Many of those who turned out lived or owned property on Mason Street.

"I think now that we have everybody here we should plan a block party," quipped resident Tom Zicarelli.

The crowd was split more or less evenly between supporters of the sidewalk plan and others who either didn't like the idea outright, or who questioned aspects of the current plan — most notably it's lack of details.

On that last point there was little disagreement.

Selectman Dennis Doyon complained of "poor planning" in the proposal.

But Board Chairman Stan Howe had a slightly different take.

"I wouldn't say it's poor planning; I think it's preliminary planning," Howe said.

The board has until September to decide if the town will accept the state money for the sidewalk.

Cole said Wednesday he plans to work with the public works foreman and town engineer to develop a more detailed plan for the board to consider before voting up or down on the state money.

The new plan will be taken up at the regularly schedule board meeting on Sept. 10, Cole said.

The plan will include specific alternatives for the board to consider, regarding such matters as parking, signage, making all or part of the Mason Street one-way.

'Very dangerous'

The plan will also address a separate but related issue.

At Monday's meeting there appeared to be general support for making the Mason Street one-way, at least from Broad Street to Crescent Lane — whether or not a sidewalk is built.

Scott Gould, who owns property on Mason Street, was one of those in favor of going one-way.

Currently, there is "very bad visibility" for vehicles turning from Mason Street onto Broad Street," Gould said.

Drivers making the turn must contend with two directions of both sidewalk and road traffic, he said, at the same time their vision is being partially blocked by cars parked on Broad Street.

"It's a very dangerous, dangerous intersection," Gould said.

Cole said the plan he will present Sept. 10 will include a proposal regarding parking on that part of Broad Street.

There will be a second public hearing prior to the selectmen's discussion that evening, Cole said.

Report

tion on changes over time in land use, demographics and economics.

Volume II

Volume II offers a "toolbox" of strategies for land conservation, natural resource management and economic development.

Lovell is offered as an example of how one town went about providing funding to buy land or obtain conservation easements.

Last year Lovell became the first town in the state to vote to allocate 100 percent of its Tree Growth and Open Space penalties to a conservation account.

The second volume also provides information on state and federal funds available for conservation and a listing of related websites.

The report also discusses tools for habitat protection and opportunities for a sustainable economic future.

Such opportunities include biomass and wind energy and tourism-related options.

The volume also includes the results of a participatory GIS survey conducted last year.

Residents were asked to pinpoint on a map areas that are important to them for a variety of purposes: recreation, forestry, open space, heritage and ecology.

More than 1,500 maps were distributed by mail and at gatherings. Of those, 174 were returned.

The composite map on the front page represents all the places mentioned, whatever the reason or reasons for their being valued.

Areas mentioned most frequently included the areas surrounding the Androscoggin and Rapid rivers and the Mahoosuc Range.

"We were not surprised by the results," said Mitchell.

Next steps

This summer and into the fall, the partners in the project and volunteers are holding "living room meetings," Mitchell said, for people interested in the report.

One meeting has already taken place in Gilead.

That gathering, said Mitchell, brought together some of the residents who worked on adding the Haystack parcel in Mason to the White Mountain National Forest.

The Haystack effort, said Mitchell, "showed them what they can do."

He said the information compiled in the report can be used as a guide to conserving parcels, like Haystack, that connect existing conservation lands.

In the late fall, the partners plan to hold two large-scale public forums, one in Maine and one in New Hampshire.

According to the report's foreword:

"The Mahoosuc Initiative hopes to serve as an incubator for community activity, whether planning acquisition of a new town forest, working to support forest products businesses with new marketing techniques, or planning for community needs like new trails and other access points.

"While we do not suggest that we will carry these kinds of projects alone, the partners in the Mahoosuc Initiative can help bring together the right partners, facilitate community dialogue and help draw financial support from outside the region for new projects."

For more information or to view the report, go to www.mahoosucinfo.org.

Briefly

Town to help fund riverbank work

BETHEL—Selectmen Monday agreed to partner with the Natural Resources Conservation Service on a $180,000 project that will stabilize the bank of the Androscoggin River along the Riverside Cemetery. Erosion in recent years has threatened several gravesites near the bank. The town, together with the Riverside Cemetery Association, will provide $45,000 for the work. The project is expected to go out to bid next week, and bids will be opened by Aug. 3.

Tax notices out by July 27

BETHEL— The inspection and revaluation of taxable properties in Bethel by a professional appraiser is nearly complete, and the Board of Assessors is now reviewing the appraiser's work. Upon completion of this review, preliminary notices of valuation will be individually mailed to taxpayers, Town Manager Scott Cole said. These notices will include an estimate of taxation and an offer to meet with the appraiser on an individual basis to review underlying appraisal methodology. Preliminary notices will be mailed to taxpayers-of-record not later than July 27, Cole said, and individual appointments will be scheduled for the month of August.

Exchange reminder, pantry appeal

BETHEL—District Exchange organizers remind donors that items may only be left during hours that the exchange is open. Hours are: Mondays 1 to 4 p.m., Thursdays 4 to 6 p.m., and Saturdays 10 a.m. to noon. Leaving items on the porch or driveway is not permitted and the practice creates a burden for volunteers. Items must be in good, wearable condition, not in need of repairs, and be "in season" or "all-season." The exchange will accept items for cold weather starting in September. Household items must be small and in good working condition. The exchange is supported by committed volunteers from area churches as well as individuals. The Food Pantry has a drop-off box at the Foodliner. Organizers said they would really appreciate donations until the season of food drives picks up in the fall. Personal items are always needed, as are canned foods.

Refuge

FUTURE HEADQUARTERS

One of the actions common to all alternatives in the F&WS plan is to relocate the refuge's headquarters to the Potter Farm on Lake Umbagog. Doing so will require extensive renovations of buildings on the site.

roughly half the acreage consisting of wetlands, open water or floodplain, and the remainder upland forest.

CCP/EIS

The refuge is managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which last week released its recommendations for habitat and wildlife management, land conservation, and public use programs on the refuge over the next 15 years.

The draft plan is more than 700 pages long (including the accompanying environmental impact statement), and is the result of five years of study and consultation with scientists, sportsmen's groups, businesses, local residents and other concerned individuals and organizations.

Focus on species

The draft plan sets out three alternative courses for future management of the refuge:

A) "Continuing current management" (including such a "no-action" alternative as required by the National Environmental Policy Act, or NEPA).

B) "Focal Species Habitat Management."

C) "Natural Landscape, Composition, Patterns, and Process Management."

The F&WS recommends adopting the second of the three alternatives, which the draft describes as follows:

"Its highest priority is to protect the biological integrity, diversity, and environmental health of Umbagog Lake and its associated rivers and tributaries.

"Its second priority is to manage the upland mixed forest and associated species.

"Management will focus on enhancing habitats for selected refuge focal species: species of regional conservation concern whose habitat needs generally represent the needs of many other federal trust resources."

The recommended alternative calls for acquiring an additional 49,718 acres of land for the refuge (65 percent in fee simple purchases from willing sellers, 35 percent in easements).

The additional acreage would more than triple the amount of land being managed.

But that increase is far smaller than the increase called for in the third alternative, which would expand the refuge by 76,304 acres, nearly quintupling its total acreage.

The larger expansion (which the F&WS is not recommending) would be aimed at creating contiguous blocks of hydrologically connected habitat greater than 25,000 acres in size.

That is the minimum size the service estimates is necessary to allow non-manmade forces (such as weather, fire, and forest growth) to reestablish a natural progression of ecological processes.

To manage or mimic

Refuge Manager Paul Casey described the distinction between the two action alternatives as "a philosophical difference."

"In one of them [B] is: 'We're going to actively manage toward the benefit of specific species, or groups of species,' Casey said.

'Our first and highest priority is always going to be the wetlands.'

PAUL CASEY

Manager, Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge

"And the other one [C] is: 'We're going to try to mimic nature, as best we can in an altered environment.'"

But whatever alternative is finally selected, he said, "Our first and highest priority is always going to be the wetlands."

More info, comments

The draft CCP/EIS is available online at www.fws.gov/northeast/planning/Lake%20Umbagog/ccphome.

To request the document in print or on CD, contact: Nancy McGarigal, Planning Team Leader, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 300 Westgate Center Drive, Hadley, MA 01035. Phone: (413) 253-8562. E-mail: northeastplan-ning@fws.gov. (Put "Lake Umbagog" in the subject line.)

Written comments should be sent to McGarigal at the address above.

Comments may also be submitted at a series of five public hearings and open houses on the CCP/EIS.

The nearest to the Bethel area will be Tuesday, July 31, at the Newry Town Hall, 422 Bear River Road.

The others will be: Monday, July 30, at Errol Town Hall, Main Street; Wednesday, Aug. 1, N.H Community Technical College Berlin Cafeteria, 2020 Riverside Drive, Berlin; Monday, Aug. 6, N.H. Fish and Game Dept. East and West Conference Rooms, 1st Floor, 11 Hazen Drive, Concord, N.H.; Tuesday, Aug. 7, Holiday Inn Civic Center, York Room, 110 Community Drive, Augusta.

The open houses will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m., followed by the public hearings, from 7:30 to 9:30.

The comment period will close Aug. 24, following which a final CCP and EIS will be developed.

Those documents will also be distributed for public review and comment.

The final decisions on which actions to implement will be made by the IF&W's Northeast regional director.

Hewnoaks

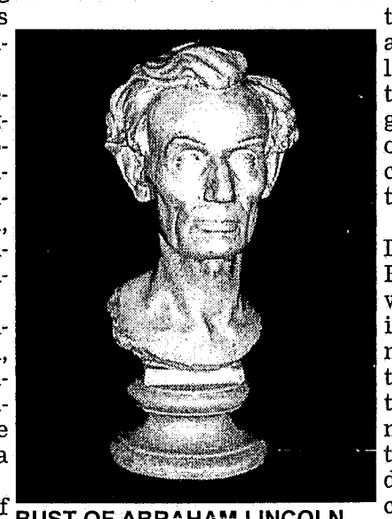
in a setting that also offers swimming, hiking, stories around a campfire and everything a young person might find memorable.

The Volk family embraced every means of creative expression and enjoyed collecting art including the landscapes of Norway artist Vivian Akers, who was a friend and frequent visitor to Hewnoaks.

Leonard's wife Emily was Stephen Douglas' cousin so the family was also well connected.

It was Stephen Douglas who introduced Leonard to Abraham Lincoln, then a presidential candidate.

After Leonard's death, Douglas finished his father's life mask as a bust.



BUST OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN, by Douglas Volk.

Replicas of the bust remain in the Lovell and Fryeburg libraries.

The Volk family saga came to an end when Douglas' daughter-in-law, Jessie, widow of Wendell Volk and the last family resident of Hewnoaks, died in 2004 at the age of 100.

The property and its contents were given to the University of Maine Alumni Foundation. The purpose was to create a trust for arts education. The trust would be funded with an auction of Hewnoaks' contents.

Uncovering the wealth of art work at Hewnoaks was a saga in itself.

Baskets of historic correspondence were discovered under paint cans in the barn. A giant study for an oil painting was nailed to the ceiling of the shed.

Some of the discoveries included Native American artifacts, western photos by Frederick Monson, antique and decorative furnishings, in addition to paintings, photography, sculpture, woodcarvings, textiles and other items produced and collected by the entire Volk family.

Camp Susan Curtis

The University of Maine, after reviewing a variety of proposals, donated the Hewnoaks to the Portland-based Susan L. Curtis Foundation.

The university and foundation are now in a partnership to "inspire disadvantaged children through the exploration of various art forms, to develop and build life skills that will help guide them out of the cycle of poverty."

The Susan L. Curtis Foundation was founded in 1971 and named for the daughter of Governor Ken Curtis, after her death from cystic fibrosis.

Camp Susan Curtis, which is operated by the foundation, provides tuition-free summertime activities to Maine youth, ages 8 to 16 who are living in poverty.

All activities are designed to be enjoyable and to "increase a child's emotional intelligence and self-esteem."

Located just six miles from the new arts center in Lovell, the camp takes referrals from teachers and guidance counselors in local elementary schools across the state.

After more than 35 years and more than 13,000 children, Camp Susan Curtis is applying its educational philosophy to at-risk teenagers who show a propensity for the arts.

"Themed sessions" at the new center will "balance various tracts of art education with life skills."

For more information or to volunteer personal art skills, contact Patrick Carson at Camp Susan Curtis, 928-2955.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

THEY just might be wrong! Who are THEY you ask? You know, THEY, as in "You know what THEY say?"

I always wondered just who in the heck THEY were and where THEY got their information that THEY pass on by way of adages and bits of wisdom that seem to have been around forever. I did a little research on this subject, and though I couldn't come up with any specific names as to who THEY were, I did find out that in many cases THEY don't know what THEY'RE talking about.

THEY say you shouldn't swim for at least an hour after eating because you'll get cramps and drown. Guess what all you aquanauts? You can stuff your bellies and immediately take the plunge off the deep end if you so desire.

According to physiologist Arthur Steinhaus, there has never been a documented case of drowning from cramps induced by swimming too soon after eating. Though I don't know exactly who Steinhaus interviewed to back up his statement, I think he's probably right. The American Red Cross no longer warns of the dangers of eating and swimming immediately thereafter.

Steinhaus does point out that it's probably a good idea to refrain from engaging in any strenuous activity on a full stomach, but this has more to do with discomfort than drowning hazards.

So what do THEY know? THEY think they know that chocolate causes acne, but THEY'RE wrong again! James Fulton, a dermatologist with the Acne Research Institute (I don't make this stuff up folks), did a controlled test using 65 acne-prone young people. Every day for four weeks part of the group ate a mega-chocolate bar with 10 times the normal amount of chocolate. The other members of the test group were fed a dummy bar. Halfway through the test the bars were switched. None of the test subject knew what bar he or she was eating and none suffered an increase in zits. However, they collectively gained 3,500 pounds.

THEY say no two snowflakes are alike, but THEY are wrong on this subject too and there are pictures to prove it. Nancy Knight, a scientist with the National Center of Atmospheric Research just happened to take pictures in which two snowflakes were identical in every aspect. Knight explained that the shape of snowflakes is determined by the temperature when they are formed, the amount of water vapor available and the speed at which they fall.

THEY just might be wrong!

If the flakes are formed when they are attached to the same crystal, they share the same history. Guess what happens? You get the meteorological equivalent of identical twins. And I bet the National Center of Atmospheric Research received tax-payers' dollars in the form of a grant to prove it.

Here's a good one. THEY say absence makes the heart grow fonder. However, THEY are a little contradictory, because THEY also say out of sight, out of mind.

Well, believe it or not, there has been some research done on this too. Phillip Saver of the University of Denver surveyed 400 college students and found that in most cases the students grew closer to their families and farther apart from their high school sweethearts when away from home. I could have told them this without having to do a survey.

THEY say time flies when you're having fun. This, of course, cannot be. There are 60 seconds in a minute, 60 minutes in an hour and 24 hours in every day. So their theory of times flying is relative only to the circumstances.

Albert Einstein, in an effort to provide a simplified explanation of his theory of relativity, gave a good example of why it sometimes feels like time flies when you're having fun. "If you hold the hand of the one you love for an hour, it seems like only a minute," he said. "If you put your hand on a hot stove for only a minute, it seems like an hour."

To put it in even simpler Bouchard terms: If it feels good, tastes good or looks good, it won't last very long.

THEY say breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Well, buck up all you oatmeal haters, it has been proven to be otherwise. In 1982, after reviewing every study they could find, non-breakfast eaters N.A. Dickie and A.E. Bender, both nutritionists at the University of London, concluded that there was little evidence to support the contention that omission of breakfast is detrimental in terms of measured performance.

So much for all that cereal that our mothers crammed down our throats for all those years. It now seems that we would have done quite well without it, that is unless the English breakfast is a lot less substantial than the American menu.

I still wonder who THEY are, but I suppose it really doesn't make a lot of difference. There would probably be less credence applied to old adages if attributed to an individual name. Would you be more apt to believe it if John Smith was the own who said, "Great minds think alike"? Or would you have your doubts if it was Mary Jones who said "Ignorance is bliss"?

The way I see it, it really doesn't matter what THEY say or who THEY are. THEY don't have a whole lot to do with me and THEY probably don't even read this column. But then again...you know what THEY say!

Bethel

Inside and Outside Mayville

By Donald G. Bennett

Modern farming made the news again this week when David McCrum's gigantic irrigation robot was cranked up. During the full day that it was running, I saw it swing about a 90-degree arc in the main potato field between the McCrum's home and the Irving Station.

Word from in-town sources is that Mike Pelletier has sold one of his condo units in Twitchell Brook Estates. Their model home has been open daily from 2 to 4 p.m.

Nancie Coan will be arriving midweek and staying for about six weeks house sitting for Jan and Lorenzo Baker at their Elm Street home. For many years Nancie was the voice of NTL Institute in Bethel— smoothing the way, keeping track of participants and expediting administrative arrangements for the institute's many summer sessions.

The long-awaited event has happened. The new Bridge Street Shell and Big Apple has opened. The all-new gas station has joined the crowd by posting gas prices starting at $2.99. Where is Dunkin Donuts?

Bethel Area Trails held its July meeting on the 6th. The agenda listed a follow-up to the June trails seminar that was held at The Lewin Center (Gehring House). Much discussion centered on creating an all-trails map. The hoped for outcome of this map would be to convince businesses that they could profit from trail connections and support. The hypothesis is that in turn businesses would contribute dollars to trails. How this would happen includes advertising, sponsoring maps, club dues and local taxes. The second most talked up item was devoted to forming a sort of "United Trails of Bethel Council." Robin Zinchuk led this discussion. Rob Gundersen was there representing snowmobile trails activities — a step toward integrating snowmobile club work with the walkers and bikers. No word was said about trails in Mayville to follow up on land deals between the town and the Cheneys. Kirk Siegel expressed his hopes to find a new coordinator thus allowing him to spend more time on searching for funding.

Monday night's board of selectmen meeting included a 50-minute public hearing on the proposed Mason Street sidewalk construction. About 15 Mason Street area residents attended the meeting to air their pro's and con's of the plan. It seemed like a majority of those speaking on Mason Street's traffic situation were in favor of making the street one way from Broad Street to Tyler Street. The other gripe that came to the surface was parking by people attending events on the Common. One resident claimed counting 42 cars parked on the street. Another number tossed into the debate was 16 — number of students expected to use the sidewalk. The hearing moved the selectmen to put off signing a commitment letter to MDOT until a more detailed plan addressing the peripheral issues was developed to go along with the sidewalk. The selectmen will have the sidewalk back on their agenda on Sept. 3.

The "Mayville" item of the meeting was: Should the town sign an agreement with the Natural Resources Conservation Service to stabilize the Androscoggin River bank along a 180-foot section of Riverside Cemetery. The Riverside Cemetery Association owns the land where construction would take place but the town is the local government agent that must prepare a contract, submit it for bid and select a contractor within 60 days of the agreement being signed. The board's red flag was a cemetery association position that the contractor have a performance bond in order to qualify for the job. It was brought up that this requirement would rule out local contractors getting the job. In rebuttal, it was also pointed out that local firms can be selected as subcontractors but that the cemetery association holds the trust of all the cemetery lot owners, and some lots are within only a few feet of where heavy equipment must operate. The board voted unanimously to sign the agreement — with a target date set to open bids and award a contract by Aug. 3.

Bethel's 18th Art Fair on the Common was a bustling affair in late Saturday morning when grandsons Jeremy and Ashton and I made the rounds. There were about 50 exhibits of paintings, other art and crafts plus music and a "food court" section. A rough estimate of number of spectators, buyers and exhibitors would be 500-600 people at that time of day. I gave Jeremy the assignment of selecting "best of the show" and he naturally picked two prints of skier/snowboard scenes. Jim McLaughlin and Friends combo was spreading pick-me-up musical waves, bounce and rhythm into the crowd from the gazebo.

The Kenistons and the Browns made up part of Bethel's regular excellent contributions to the fair grounds. Ginny K (now retired correspondent for The Citizen) was helping Bob who was "Ka-bitzing" with Alden Kennett. Reggie Brown was relaxing in one of his own products. A century ago these exhibits would have been seen inside the old 2nd Congregational Church in Mayville or in Pattee's Hall on Spring Street as these long gone landmarks were favorite places for local artisan displays.

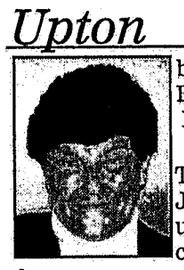
Janet Willie's "salon" for the Shy, Novice and Closeted was drawing a regular stream of couples to view the other Bethel area artists' work in her barn and home. When I checked the guest book around noon about 16 had taken the time to sign her guest register. Willie's volunteers included specially focused music for the occasion — Connie St. Pierre playing a "laptop" sized harp. Besides seeming to really be enjoying herself, and Ted St. Pierre was on standby to turn the nonexistent pages, her music fitted into the salon scene with just the right touch. Largest, most finished piece of artwork that I saw was Dwight Mills' "Potato Eaters." According to his card, Dwight owns the Three Ponds Studio in Greenwood.

Saturday afternoon I accidentally visited the Norway sidewalk art show as a drive-thru visitor. Norway's show started with the south end Main Street sidewalks filled mostly with crafts and hobbies while the mainstream artists exhibited along the north end sidewalks near the Matolsky Art Center. There was a certain advantage to being able to make a drive-thru quick preview but the lack of noticeable convenient parking is a disadvantage to the sidewalk show. There was a sizable crowd in the streets and on the sidewalks.

For the serious art enthusiast the Bethel Library is the place to go. Last year its listings added "The Judgement of Paris — The Revolutionary Decade That Gave the World Impressionism" by Ross King. One chapter goes into how Emperor Louis Napolean III, founder of the historic Paris we know today, established the annual showing of the "Salon of the Refuses" — a sort of grand forerunner of Bethel's two summer art shows. As a footnote to history, the French emperor lost his job during the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. During the siege of Paris a later well-known figure in Bethel, Julius Skillings of the Bethel Steam Mill family was in Paris surviving siege life privations.

If you have Bethel or Mayville news, please let me know by calling 824-2094, e-mailing Donald@thebetheljournals.info, stopping me in the Post Office or the Bethel Shop & Save parking lot or even making the drive to 333 Mayville Road.

Upton



by Eleanor LeComte

The Fourth of July is behind us; summer can start any day now.

The town of Upton is mourning the death of Roger Lavallee. There will never be anyone to fill his busy shoes. A few years ago Roger turned his life around and became our most valuable citizen. He filled many positions in town that others shied away from. Among those were selectman, two terms; Planning Board, Fire Warden, animal control officer, sexton for the cemetery, Ladies Aid and the church, road commissioner, Code Enforcement Officer and Land Fill manager. While performing these tasks he managed to find time to assist many people with repairs and construction. He ran a very busy private business, landscaping in warm months and plowing during the winter. One always felt relieved when Roger showed up.

Our flag is flying half mast on a flagpole that he thought would look nice on our beach. A tireless worker until his illness slowed him down slightly. The phrase, "I'll get Roger to do it" was used less frequently then. Roger used his pontoon boat to teach children the "joy of fishing." He accompanied wildlife photographers into parts up the lake others never entered, enabling them to take pictures of wildlife in their natural setting. These pictures appeared in galleries and on wildlife calendars.

Roger was married to Jean, who cared for him diligently through his illness. It was a love story that made all of us happy. We will miss you Roger, and I can imagine you now helping St. Peter put "WD40" on the Pearly Gates.

On a lighter note we are being visited by that "rogue" bear in broad daylight. The poor guy is hungry. There are no birdfeeders out and trash has been secured, but still, he or she visits. I must say "it" is a very beautiful bear.

The Fourth of July was celebrated in Errol with a parade and many floats. The Wixom grandchildren decorated their ATVs and did a fine job in the parade.

Private parties were held. The fireworks across the lake in New Hampshire were clearly visible in Upton.

The "Bird of the Week" is "Mama Turkey" who crossed Route 26 with her large brood of young ones.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello readers, what a nice Fourth of July we had! We were camping at South Arm, the weather was OK, a few rain showers.

On Saturday we went to the fireworks in Errol, N.H. It was a nice time. They were beautiful. What a different atmosphere between them and Rumford's. I noticed that there weren't 25 fire trucks parked up and down the hill, everybody and their brother wasn't walking around a dog (and carrying a can of beer), and they didn't close down one lane of traffic! Nice job up there Errol, N.H.! On the ride home we didn't even see one single moose!

Andover Olde Home Days buttons are on sale. There are a lot of nice door prizes you could win with the numbers on the back of the buttons. Most of us also collect the buttons from year to year.

Andover Service Circle is bursting with news. Andrea Savitz of Andover Service Circle (ASC) shares the following with us. First and foremost, she wishes to extend on behalf of ASC an overdue heartfelt thank you to Roger Mills of Mills Market for his unwavering support of the Circle. For years he has allowed ASC members to use his store as a drop-off point for baked goods intended for receptions following memorials or funerals.

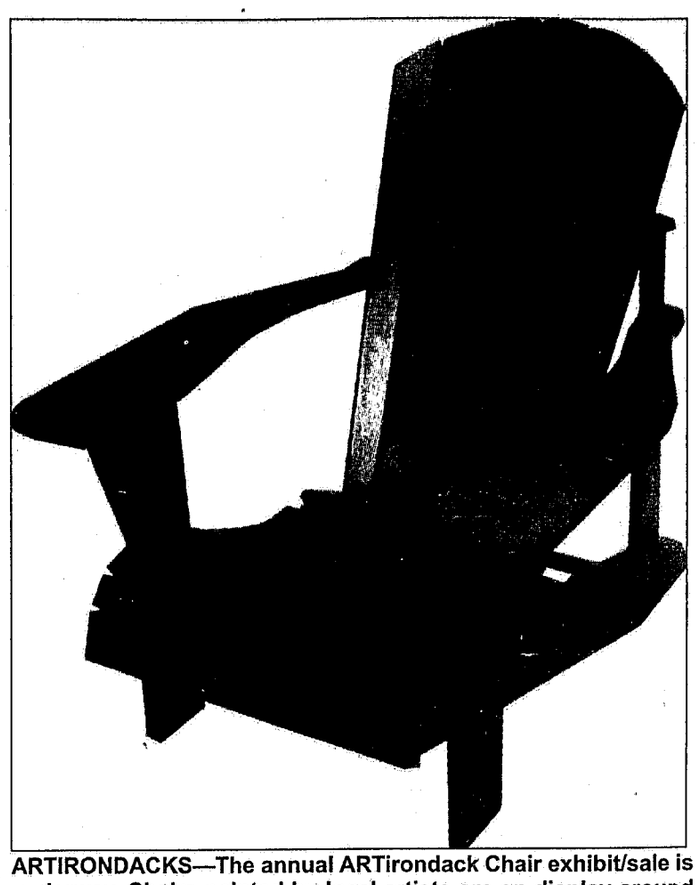
On May 26, at the 2007 Andover Alumni Awards Dinner, ASC honored graduating high school senior Jennifer Learned with its annual Service Award. This award was given in recognition of her volunteerism in the River Valley area.

As in past years, ASC is facing a very busy July and August for the benefit of Andover residents. The organization is selling space on the Andover Town Common for Olde Home Days, Saturday, Aug. 4. Spots go fast. Andrea urges all interested vendors to contact Judy Michaud at 392-1221. Also, all profits from the 3rd annual Andover Olde Home Days Road Race at 8 a.m., Aug. 4, will go to ASC to assist area families in need. Interested parties can contact Brianne Bailey at 392-1475 or Anne Marie Mahar at 364-3180 for registration forms, or they can plan to come early the day of the event to register (7 a.m. at Andover Elementary School).

Further, the wildly successful ASC 50/50, that yielded its winner $497 last Olde Home Days, is on sale once again this year for a drawing on Saturday, Aug. 4.

Lastly, Andrea wishes to remind everyone that the Circle is taking orders for the 2008 Andover Service Circle Community Calendar. Members will have 50/50 chances with them as they attempt to canvass all households in Andover for calendar orders. However, on the chance that anyone is missed, she states that he or she can call in requests for calendar orders or 50/50 chances to Judy Michaud at 392-1221.

Gerry Savitz, of the Olde Home Days Committee, states that the Best Garden Contest registrations are now available at Andover Town Office, Andover Library and some of Andover's retail locations. He points out that, with the permission of Robert Swain, there is one new category, the Violet Swain Award for Flowers of One Species. Besides pa-



ARTIRONDACKS—The annual ARTirondack Chair exhibit/sale is underway. Chairs painted by local artists are on display around Bethel, and will be sold to benefit the Mahoosuc Arts Council. Schiavi Homes has sponsored four of the chairs. Two seasonal homeowners, Bill Frongillo & Robin Prentice each sponsored and painted chairs. Bill's is the Red Sox chair at the Post Office and Robin's is at Viewer's Choice. They have entered into a friendly competition between two friends. Whoever has their chair sell for more money, the other has to donate to Mahoosuc Arts the difference between what the two chairs sold for. The elementary school art teacher Tera Ingraham for SAD44 painted the chair that is in Brooks Brothers. She has also just joined the Board of Mahoosuc Arts. (Photo: A. Lehman)

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

The bracken fern has taken over the roadsides on the forest road, covering the remains of such early bloomers as lady's slippers and clintonia with its cool green fronds. These are the ferns that have a longish stem from which the fronds sprout, rather than from the base of the plant as most ferns do. When there is an especially large stand of them, the fronds form a sort of herringbone pattern, which I find pleasing to the eye. And on extra buggy mornings, I often cut a switch of bracken to wave away the skeeters and other biting bugs.

There has been extensive work done on Fire Road 56 in the Mud City area of the National Forest, I presume in anticipation of a timber sale. The road bed has been raised about ten inches, with a foundation of crushed rock, covered by a very fine-grained gravel that has been well tamped and rolled. I wonder who's paying for all this.

We had a busy week at the Hoehstead, with the Griffin family of Boston visiting us until Saturday morning. The boys, Owen and Robbie, connected with their Siegel and Schwarz cousins and spent time in the pool, at Frenchman's Hole, and at the Casablanca. I had a chance for one-on-one time with daughter Kate, as she accompanied me on our morning walks, bringing along her "min-pin," Max, for his daily exercise. Max is about the size of Jake's head and a feisty little thing, but the two dogs get along famously. Talk about Mutt and Jeff!

On June 29 Bethel Senior Citizens were picked up by a bus which started in Mexico and taken to the Fryeburg Fairgrounds. The Oxford County Sheriff's Office and TRIAD had organized the annual session for people over 50 years of age. In addition to a lunch cookout, there were exhibits of interest to seniors, and people ready to deal with questions and concerns on such matters as medical care, retirement income, legal issues, insurance, etc.

The West Bethel Church had lots of fun on July 6 with its annual second-hand sale, otherwise known as a white elephant sale, put on for the benefit of the church. One man in particular, who had just bought an unusual old horn, also bought some cookies and then proceeded to share them with everyone there. Nice touch.

Saturday was the occasion of the annual Art Show on the Common, and it was very well attended. It seemed as if there were more exhibitors than ever. We saw West Bethelites everywhere. Michael, Betsy, and Helen Cooper were there, enjoying the exhibits and eating their crab rolls. They also had a painting in hand, bought from a favorite artist.

Pat McDonald was helping out at the Victoria Inn's food booth (yummy brisket barbecue!), and Bob had his camera handy as he walked around schmoozing. Both he and June Abbott had work on display at Janet Willie's "Closet Artist" show at her home behind Key Bank. We saw Jan Stowell proudly showing off one of Bob's photos, and we spent time drooling over June's lovely pastel paintings.

Also at the Common were women from the West Bethel Union Church, selling their homemade cookies. Apparently the exhibitors are their biggest customers, looking for munchies as they set up for the day. This sale is always a big success for them, garnering over $200 this year. By the way, the ladies ask readers to save their small coffee cans (with lids) and leave them at the church. These are used both to measure and package said cookies.

On Saturday night we attended one of the free concerts at Bingham Auditorium at Gould. There is a small group of talented young pianists and their teacher at Gould for a summer workshop, and they perform two or three evenings a week on the Steinways. We were treated to some beautiful music performed by five students in this extraordinary multi-national group.

The Grange opened their flea market last weekend and will be open Fridays and Saturdays for most of the summer, except, of course, Mollyockett Day. Be sure to stop by some week. The Grange also recently entertained the Pomona Grange (the county umbrella organization) at the end of June. As usual, it was one of the hottest nights of the year, making the upstairs room almost unlivable, and cutting the numbers of attendees.

Kathy DeGruttola's former Grange in Benton, Maine, invited the Pleasant Valley folks to dinner recently. Five or so members made the trip and enjoyed food and fellowship.

Mike will tell me I'm running on too long, so I'll stop now. Just please call or write with your news: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

Gilead

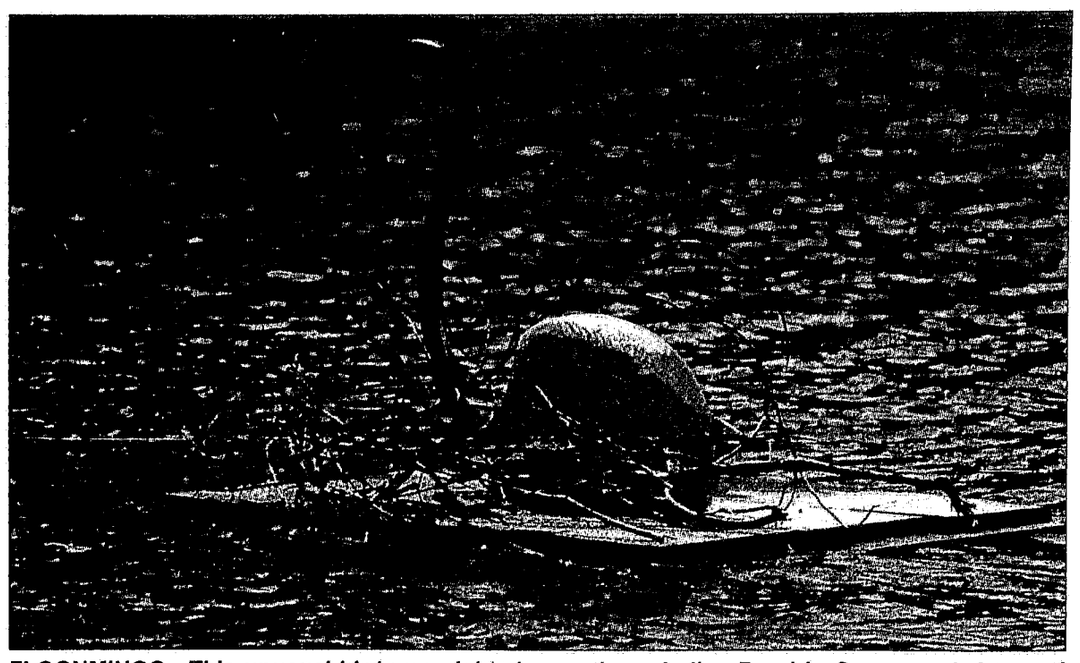
by Lin Chapman

It must be difficult to try to plan a vacation with the kind of weather that we have been having. One minute it is too hot to do anything and the next minute, along comes the rain and cold. We have been able to spend a little time lounging in our gazebo on the front lawn.

The indigo bunting, the rose-breasted grosbeak and the little finches are still coming to the feeder, but there are not many other birds to watch. The red squirrels have taken over and are quite aggressive. They have figured out a way to get some seeds out of the feeder, which is gray squirrel proof. Since it works on weight, the red squirrels are not heavy enough to close it. We tried adding weights but enough for the red squirrel is too much for the birds. If there are any good ways to discourage red squirrels, it would be nice to know. At someone's suggestion, we tried a dryer sheet, but that didn't work. I believe at one point the squirrel was using it as a napkin!

Fred Corriveau, highway commissioner, has been working on the North Road. He has been trying to improve the sides of the road by removing excess dirt.

Norm Buttrick and Cathy McGuire (AKA Little Bo Peep and her sheep) stopped by the Yard Sale this past weekend. They had been to the river to try their luck at fishing.



FLOONMINGO—This unusual bird was sighted recently on Indian Pond in Greenwood. As pond resident Lonny Schneider describes it, "It appears to be a cross between Gavia immer (loon) and Flamingo plasticus (pink party flamingo)." The creature has been dubbed a "floonmingo."

Sorry to hear that Gerard Dupont's sister passed away. Lise McLain accompanied her father, Gerard, to Canada to attend the funeral.

Gilead Fire Department

The Gilead Fire Department attended a Fireman's Muster in Gorham, N.H., recently. They are also getting ready for the Western Maine Gem, Mineral and Jewelry Festival that will be held at Telstar High School this year. The dates are Saturday, July 14, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, July 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is something at the show for everyone. The GFD provides food for the vendors and all the customers that attend the show.

My brother, Steve McLain, drove the Gilead Fire Truck in the Fourth of July parade in Gorham, N.H. Scott Bogart went with him.

Planning Board

This is a reminder that the regular July meeting of the Gilead Planning Board will be held on July 12 (tonight) in the Town Hall at 7 p.m.

Gilead Historical Society

The GHS has had the Town Hall open a few times to try to sell the rest of the yard sale items. A lot of the items have sold and hopefully the rest will have gone to a yard sale given by another historical society this week.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

When Janis Black and I were at the Taste of Eden a couple of weeks ago, she asked me if I had seen any fireflies or lunar moths. I do believe I have seen three fireflies, one in the bedroom one night flickering on and off and about two flying around outside. As for the lunar moth, have seen only about three or four of them at my kitchen windows at night; very strange non-occurrences.

Aaron and Melody Bachelder, along with her sister, Mary, and Melody's grandson, Jessy, from Hickory, N.C., were visiting Karlene a week ago. On July 4 they all drove to Claire and George Romano's in Sanford. Gilberte Seeley accompanied them on July 4. Only Karlene and Gilberte returned to Newry that day. While here, Aaron took Karlene to the Cinnamon Stick in Locke Mills.

Recently Heidi Littlefield and her daughter, Julie, along with Julie's daughters, Alexis, Natalie and Rorie spent the day with Karlene.

This past weekend Karlene and Gilberte enjoyed lunch at the Cinnamon Stick Café.

This past Friday I drove to Smith College in Northampton, Mass., to hear a few discourses. In trying to get to the campus I became what I thought was hopelessly lost. It seems I kept driving around the campus and not able to find the building I was looking for. Eventually and in time I did get to my destination. It was a good weekend and ended on Sunday at noon. On my way home, I stopped at my favorite lookout in Bradford, Vt. Then after getting gasoline in Lancaster, drove to Mark's for a nice supper he had prepared. I made it back to Newry about 6:40 p.m.

Greenwood City

by Wayne Hakala

Sorry I didn't get anything in last week. Seems that the world is turning faster with each passing day and just never enough time to get all together. But it sure is fun!

Have had a very busy weekend. Saturday evening, Anita and I were joined by the Wilbur's and attended the Blazing Star Lodge public supper in Rumford. Joe and the capable crew put some wicked good Bean Hole Beans together with all the fixin's. We all had our fill and plenty of pie for dessert. The Merchant Marine across the table fell in love with the grapenut pie.

While we were at the lodge we planned out a supper to be held at Jefferson Lodge on July 28 in Bryant Pond. Main item is barbecued chicken, and I'm sure a lot of other good eatin'. The Merchant Marine said he will be there. He has to ship out on the 7th of August and is headed for Kuwait.

Also Blazing Star will be holding another Bean Hole Bean supper on Aug. 4. I will be there too and expect to be pushed along by the excess gas escaping from the last batch.

Then on Sunday, the siblings got together to celebrate our babysister's birthday. Sorry to say, but our sister, Judy, could not attend because of some surgery. But we did Karen's B'Day up good and proper. I think we should celebrate a few more the same way. And all the eats were equally as good.

I'm sure that the townspeople have heard of our wonderful town manager's problems in the past week. Kim has been laid up and is about to tear the world apart. Her energy is there and she has to stay off her feet, elevate the legs and behave. I can relate to her condition from past experience. No fun being tied down for months. We all wish her well and know she will be back full of gusto very shortly.

My buddy in Texas called this evening. He finally found a Gravely zero turn and bought it. He has been looking for some time. Course with myself and I, bragging about my old tractor and how much I love the old iron, he had to have one too. He settled for a much newer zero turn and was amazed at how it mowed in heavy, wet grass. It poured just before he hauled it home. Course, the old boy had to try out the new toy. I guess them Texas boys have a lot to learn yet. In fact, I know they do! There's only one reason I would go back to Texas and that is to see my good friend Bob and see who could stir up the biggest pile. It would be fun!

Till next week, "Keep smiling and keep them wondering what you are up to."

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The Hanover Select Board will meet at the Hanover Town Office on Tuesday, July 17, at 7 p.m. Hanover officials issued two new building permits last week. One permit was for a new house off Route 2 and the other for the demolition and reconstruction of a portion of a house on Mill Hill Road.

Do not forget the Grange Dinner on Sunday, July 15, at the Grange Hall in Rumford Center. Baked ham and all that go with it will be served from noon to 1:30 p.m. Only $7 for adults and $3.50 for children. The baked bean supper planned for Saturday, July 21, has been cancelled.

A power failure early last Sunday morning left most of Hanover and everyone west of Falls Hill in Rumford in the dark for several hours. The cause was a major building fire in the Virginia section of Rumford.

Where were you on 7/7/07? One old fellow said he was on Route 2 traveling east in Norridgewock, at 7:07 a.m.

There haven't been many bear stories lately but a momma raccoon with two kits ripped open a screen door in a midnight raid at a Howard Pond cottage and helped themselves to whatever they could find.

Saturday, July 28, has been selected for the dedication and celebration for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library. Ceremonies will begin at 1 p.m. and should be a memorable event. We will see you there!

There had been a great crowd around the Pond and Hanover over the 4th of July week. Some left earlier this week.

Saturday's Bethel Art Fair drew a large crowd on the common. "The crowd seemed more robust than usual and most of the artists/crafters did very well," said Robin Zinchuk of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, which organizes the event. Here, customers look over items offered for sale by Beth Bean, owner of Sunday River Gems in Newry. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

Mason

by Richard Grover

Mike and Rosemary Stackhouse were visited by a large black bear again a couple nights last week. This time the bear made off with one trash can and two full plastic bags of garbage. Mike said he followed the bear's path into the woods but has not yet found anything except one empty returnable soda bottle. He told me to let him know if I find an extra trash can up my way!

Ron and Dee Fournier were also visited by a bear that tried to get into their small cabin, now used mostly for storage. This bear took a bite out of the corner boards on one corner of the cabin and left a few scratches along one wall. So far, their garbage is unscathed! I wonder if this bear might be the same one that has been raiding houses on the Bog Road, on the other side of Tyler Mountain! I know bears sometimes cover a lot of ground in a rather short time. Sometimes they don't hurry though; Snuffy spent a lot of time barking in the bushes near the Stackhouse's during the afternoon of the nights of the bear raids. I don't think the bear was very worried about Snuffy!

Rupert and Ina had granddaughter Jessica's sheltie dog, T-Bone, for the week last week. Rupert said that vicious sheltie charged a large bear that was just outside their back door; this bear turned tail and rumbled back to the woods with that yapping 15-pound sheltie close behind!

In a recent issue of "Bits & Pieces," I found the following questions which nobody has a good answer to:

"Why do you need a driver's license to buy liquor when you can't drive and drink?"

"Why isn't phonetic spelling spelled the way it sounds?"

"Why are there interstate highways in Hawaii?"

"Why is it when you trans-

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report for 2006

BETHEL WATER DISTRICT

Bethel, ME
PWSID ME0090160

We're pleased to present to you our Annual Drinking Water Quality Report. This report, a requirement of the 1996 amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act, is designed to inform you about the quality water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water.

WATER SOURCE
Due to exceptional water quality our source, we have a waiver to filtration. We screen the water twice before treating it with chlorine to protect from possible bacterial contaminants and add fluoride to promote dental health. It is then gravity fed to our 1,313 customers through 525 service connections. We own 2,300 acres surrounding the source, we have developed and implemented a Watershed Control which is designed to prevent contamination of our source.

SOURCE WATER ASSESSMENT
The sources of drinking water include rivers, lakes, ponds, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and radioactive material and can pick up substances resulting from human or animal activity. The Maine Drinking Water Program (DWP) has evaluated all public water supplies as part of the Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP). The assessments included geology, hydrology, land uses, water testing information, and the extent of land ownership or protection by local ordinance to see how likely our drinking water source is to being contaminated by human activities in the future. Assessment results are available at public water suppliers, town offices, and the DWP. For more information about the SWAP, please contact the DWP at telephone 287-2070.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Lucien Roberge, Superintendent, or Donald Katlin, Assistant Superintendent, at telephone number 207-824-2342 or mailing address PO Box 104, Bethel, ME 04217. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the third Tuesday of every month at 4 p.m. at the District office, 9 Philbrook St.

WATER QUALITY
Bethel Water District routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The following table shows any detection resulting from our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2006. *

In 2005, due to efforts to protect the water supply, we applied for and were granted a three-year waiver for synthetic organics (Phase II/V) testing. This is an exemption from the testing/monitoring requirements for pesticides, herbicides, fungicides and other industrial chemicals; the state of Maine Drinking Water Program grants a waiver only upon a finding that "it will not result in an unreasonable risk to health."

As you can see by the table, our system had no violations. We're proud that your drinking water meets all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected. The EPA has determined that your water IS SAFE at these levels.

If no tests were required for a given contaminant in 2006, the law requires that the most recent test results be included here. No test results over 5 years old are allowed, however.*

Some or all of the following contaminants were tested for as regulated by law. Other elements are also tested for which do not require reporting, as they do not pose a potential health risk.

Definitions:
Action Level - (AL): The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
Maximum Contaminant Level - (MCL): is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - (MCLG): is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
Variances, Exemptions, and Waivers - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL, a treatment technique or test for a given contaminant under certain conditions.
Treatment Technique (TT) - A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water (e.g. treatment technique for turbidity)
Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.
Running Annual Average (RAA): The Average of monthly or quarterly samples for the last year at all sample locations.
N/A - not applicable

Units:
Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) - One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.
Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter (ug/L) - One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.
Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - A measure of the radioactivity in water.

Notes:
Total Coliform Bacteria: Reported as the highest monthly number of positive samples, for water systems that take < 40 samples per month.
Gross Alpha: Action level over 5 pCi/L requires testing for Radium. Action level over 15 pCi/L requires testing for Radon and Uranium.
Lead/Copper: Action levels are measured at consumer's tap. 90% of the tests must be equal to or below the action level.
Fluoride: Fluoride levels must be maintained between 1-2 ppm, for those water systems that fluoridate the water.
TTHM/HAA5: Total Trihalomethanes (TTHM) and Haloacetic Acids (HAA5) are formed as a by-product of drinking water chlorination. This chemical reaction occurs when chlorine combines with naturally occurring organic matter in water.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION
All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by constituents that are naturally occurring or are man made. Those constituents can be microbes, organic or inorganic chemicals, or radioactive materials. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife. Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming. Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses. Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production and can also come from gas stations, urban runoff, and septic systems. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

MCL's are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated constituents, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-ten thousand chance of having the described health effect.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

We, at Bethel Water District, work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life, and our children's future. Please contact us with any questions.

Gross Alpha: Action level over 5 pCi/L requires testing for Radium. Action level over 15 pCi/L requires testing for Radon and Uranium.
Radon: Radon is found in the soil and bedrock formations and is a water soluble, gaseous by-product of Uranium. Most Radon is released to the air, moments after turning on the tap. Only about 1-2 percent of Radon in the air comes from drinking water. The USEPA is proposing setting federal standards for public drinking water. The State of Maine currently recommends treatment for Radon levels in drinking water above 4,000 pCi/L. Breathing Radon released to air from tap water increases the risk of lung cancer over the course of your lifetime. If you seek more information about Radon, please contact this office or the State Drinking Water Program and request a Radon Fact Sheet.
Arsenic: The U.S. EPA adopted the new MCL standard in October 2001. Water systems must meet this new standard by January 2006.
Lead/Copper: Action levels are measured at consumer's tap. 90% of the tests must be equal to or below the action level.
Fluoride: Fluoride levels must be maintained between 1-2 ppm, for those water systems that fluoridate the water.

Al and Crystal Lake took a seven-day cruise from Boston to Bermuda. Along with them were Crystal's sister, Jeannine, and her husband, Gary Wing, and Gary's sister, Brenda, and her husband, Sal Signorettie. The ship left Boston on Sunday evening and arrived in Bermuda Tuesday morning. It was raining as they came into Bermuda and continued to rain the rest of that day.

One of their excursions that was planned for Tuesday had to be canceled because of predicting thundershowers. Wednesday and Thursday were full days docked in Bermuda. The weather was beautiful and they all had many ventures on the island from shopping to snorkeling. On board ship for each meal there was a choice of restaurants to choose from or eat at the buffet on the 10th deck. Food was not scarce, so if you are on a diet, this vacation is not for you, or if you do not enjoy being waited on.

Each night there was a variety of entertainment from dancing to a Broadway show. There was also an exercise room or jogging on deck 7 or sign up for different classes.

Crystal's best thing aboard ship was having a massage. Fun was had by all!

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

West Paris has been quiet this week producing little news.

My good neighbors, the Newells, have mowed the lawn, my lawn, again.

While driving several small gray squirrels have crossed my path. I have seen one nearby so the large ones can't be far away. I have not seen them in about two weeks.

The peonies have blossomed and are fragrant and large. They do not last long though.

On Sunday, July 15, the Rev. Herbert Adams, minister emeritus, and former minister at West Paris will be the speaker at West Sumner Universalist Church at 11 a.m. His sermon topic will be "Love is a Deep and a Dark and a Lonely." He was also a former middle school principal in South Paris. Refreshments will be served.

Doreen and Raymond Merrill spent last week with Beryl Bonney at her camp on Round Pond. The evenings were cool but the days were pleasant.

Last week I was in the big city and got a lot of groceries. But the house will be full of guests over the next weekend for the Lamb gathering, so will have to shop again this week. It will be nice to have the large family together and use all the rooms and beds again and I will get to do a lot of cooking.

Poor Muffin will spend her time hiding. When she gets acquainted she will probably be friendly and will peek around to see who is present. She is less afraid of strangers now.

Alder River Grange will have a regular meeting on July 13 with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. and the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The Grange supper schedule is as follows: July 23 is meatloaf with mashed potatoes, veggies and pies; Aug. 18 is baked ham; Sept. 19 is pork loin; Oct. 20 is the harvest supper, and Nov. 10 is the big turkey supper. The cost is $7 for adults and $3 for under 13. All suppers start at 5 p.m.

Barbara Honkala celebrated her birthday on July 9 and Richard Kimball will celebrate his birthday on July 16.

Esther Wilson, Grace Gibson, Jackie Libby, Paul and Charlotte Kimball and Butch and Ann Crockett visited Clara Hamlin in Waterford on July 4.

Nancy Dailey of Connecticut, Betty Nordahl of California, and Bill Nordahl of New Jersey visited Jack and Lucy Nordahl for a week recently. They did some hiking and canoeing on Richardson Lake.

Florence Hastings went to see the Art Fair on July 7 on the Bethel common.

Arlene Harrington, Gloria Crockett, Gary and Esther Fuller of Greenwood visited Judy and Dawson Smith in Surry on July 5.

Alder River Grange members: Do not forget we meet with West Paris Grange on July 19, with a 6:30 p.m. supper.

We have had some showers, which do help water the gardens, but a nice, steady rain would really do wonders. God Bless the Troops.

Bryant Pond

by Alice Hoyt

Franklin Grange 124 held a regular meeting on Monday, July 2, with 11 members present. The food sale, craft/whatever sale was discussed. As this was near the 4th of July, Bertha had a Patriotic Program. Opening thought by Bertha DeHaas; opening song "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; reading, Olive Risko, "Thankful for America"; song, "This is My Country"; reading, Richard Felt, "They Called it America"; song, "America the Beautiful"; Richard Cole played the banjo; reading, Our Heritage, Alice Hoyt; music by Richard Felt, Dot Canwell, Richard Cole and Bertha DeHaas playing the Armed Force Melody; reading by Yvonne Nowlin, 4th of July; closing song and thought.

Next meeting is Monday, July 16. Installation of officers will be held Sept. 17 at Franklin Grange.

I don't know who put the flags on the poles in town but thanks. They look so very nice. If more people would do things for the good of America instead of protesting something all the time, what a wonderful thing that would be. This is just my opinion (A.H.).

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is prayer meeting. Tuesday, July 17, will be the quarterly business meeting at 6:30 p.m.

News from Mrs. Nieberle: Jim Chandler from Bryant Pond was named "Outstanding Educator of the Year" by the American Forest Federation. He has been two-term president of the Maine Environment Education Association. He is now director of the Auburn Land Lab within the Auburn school department. Jim was also seen on Channel 6 morning news on June 3, speaking about the dangers of milfoil in lakes. It may be you didn't recognize him, as he was in his wetsuit.

I went hiking at Step Falls in Newry with my family during Memorial Day weekend. It was surprising how many trees had fallen over and some in the trail way. The water was still very cold.

Victoria Bobbe will be going to Mount Hood to ski this summer. Her school year at Gould has ended.

Mr. and Mrs. Bagley are here from Florida for the summer. They have been up for many years. Saw Charlie, Katina and Josie Reese. Charlie just came back from Arizona (Alice wrote "with son Augusta") with his son from Augusta? They did a lot of hiking and even got to see a little bit of California after days of hiking.

Josie's softball team won the playoffs and took the championship. Katina and Josie are hoping to visit Italy sometime soon with friends.

Sue Farnum is back from Texas for the summer. Sue works at Maine Line Products on the weekends.

Karen Yarasitis had her children and grandchildren up for the week. She took her granddaughter, Amelia, to Santa's Village.

Nancy and Matt Cushman went to Loudon NASCAR race.

Haying has started for the farmers. Most need three good days to bring in the square bales.

Celeste Gaudreau had a nice graduation party at the Maine Conservation School. She is going to go to University of Maine in Augusta.

The Youth Group from the Baptist Church and friends went on a hike up Step Falls in Newry on the 4th of July. Later in the day, 29 met at Donald and Andi Hoyt's house for a picnic and prayer meeting.

Thursday, July 5, the Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens met at the Greenwood Town Hall for a meeting and delicious dinner put on by the Firemen's Auxiliary from Greenwood. Next meeting is Aug. 2, a picnic at the home of Joan and Gordon Morgan, Greenwood. Each one is to bring a dish, sandwiches or dessert to share. Bring also something to show old or new for a What Is It? Meet at the Morgan's between 11:30 a.m. and 12 noon. Nineteen members were present.

Historical Society

Glynn and Sandy Brooks gave two pictures to the Woodstock Historical Society. Thanks. Kathleen Bean, Mary and Larry Billings watched the Historical Society museum recently.

Old-fashioned pink roses served as decoration. By the way, don't the flowers outside in the urn look great? Two people were in. Kathleen Bean commented several times on how nice the museum looked.

DBA:Upton Village Store

The Upton Village Store is now more recognizable, thanks to the renovation of the store's old sign by Barry Sandyford. The store was formerly known as the Upton Trading Post. Collie (shown here) and Wayne Svendberg bought it about a year-and-a-half ago. The old sign had been taken down, Collie said, and people passing through on Route 26 were uncertain if the business was in fact a store. Sandyford recently fixed up the old sign and put new letters on it, leaving no question there was a store inside. The Svendbergs sell groceries, deli foods and sandwiches and take-out pizza. In addition, Collie operates a hair salon on one side of the store building.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. I apologize for neglecting the column these past couple of weeks — I've been on vacation and lost track of time. Let's see what we need to catch up on.

We hope that everyone enjoyed their July 4th holiday. Bud Bowden had family up this past week enjoying the area and a visit.

The Albany Improvement Association is gearing up for its annual summer yard sales and are looking for good, saleable items. You can get in touch with Buzzie Lapham if you have items to donate.

Pam Rugg enjoyed a visit from her two littlest grandchildren a couple of weeks ago. I hear the boys are growing into nice little guys. Pam and her niece also donated time at the Good Shepherd Food Bank in Auburn.

Dana and Dyana went to Orono for orientation and have nothing but great things to say about the college. She's excited, we're nervous, and all are plugging along.

Davey has been taking karate classes in Oxford and has been enjoying them greatly. He also earned a little for his college fund (never too early) by selling off extra tomato, pepper and broccoli plants.

The Barton's pick-your-own strawberry fields/stand are open. You may want to call ahead to be certain of their hours and days open as we've noticed the sign down sometimes. We need to get over there soon, too!

If you've something you'd like to be included in the column, please let me know and I'd be happy to place it for you.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week God Bless and Keep.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

The 4th has come and gone. David and I worked the holiday and as predicted the transfer station was not very busy. Those who came were mostly surprised we were open. That again begs the question; do most people drive around with their trash in their cars hoping to find a place to dump it? In any case, we got to see some friends and the weather was nice most of the day.

Here in the east end of Waterford we were pleased to see the opening of a new store, Sally's Pantry and Country Kitchen, on the grounds of the short-lived Crooked River Diner which replaced many other businesses including Lou's Restaurant. Sally's is on Route 118 and is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. to around 8 at night. I had two visitors who went over at 8 and were able to get ice cream cones and bowls. At present they are only serving breakfast and lunch but hope to serve dinner soon.

Sally's is run by Karen Pendergast of Lovell and Laurie Reynolds of Albany Township. They sell fresh produce from local farms, Maine-made products, wine and beer. Karen says they have unique affordable wines. The kitchen is run by Tom and Sarah Rose of Lovell and makes fresh home-baked bread daily. The store also has a full deli, selling sandwiches and cold cuts, puddings and takeout. They hope to have pizza soon. Currently they sell Hershey's ice-cream.

This Saturday, July 14, there is a dance at the Waterford Fair Grounds to raise money for the 6th grade trip to Camp Kieve. The dance is from 8 p.m.. to midnight and the cost is $8 for a single and $15 for a couple.

July 18 there is another wonderful breakfast at the Wilkins House. The cost is $5 for adults, $3 for children. Children under 5 are free.

Saturday, the 14th, is also the date of a breakfast in Harrison as part of Harrison Old Home Days. It will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Congregational Church of Harrison and North Bridgton. It is located across the street from Crystal Lake. Donations appreciated.

July 13 and 14 is also the Harrison Lion's Club Lobster Feast. Chicken is also available from 5 to 8 p.m. at Crystal Lake Park.

Saturday and Sunday is also the Gem and Mineral Show in Bethel. Held at Telstar High School it is the 46th annual Western Maine Gem, Mineral and Jewelry Festival. FMI: Albert Holden at 743-8729.

That is all for this week. Have a great week and stay dry.

From Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is immersed in our "event season" and, now that we have the Bethel Art Fair behind us, we are now looking to the next event: the Constellation NewEnergy Bethel Area Chamber Golf Classic, scheduled for Monday, July 16, at the Bethel Inn Resort, with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. We still have space available for individuals or teams to play, so please contact us if you are interested in jumping in.

One new facet to the tournament this year is that we have had donated two seats to the Boston Red Sox/Tampa Bay Devil Rays Sept. 10 game at Fenway Park. The seats are in the right field box, section number 7. We are only selling 200 raffle tickets for this at $10 per ticket. So if you are interested in purchasing one, give us a call right away at 824-2282 or stop in to our office.

Mollyockett Day is always a busy one for the chamber as we orchestrate three separate event/activities on that day. The Key Bank/Mollyockett Day Classic one-mile youth and five-mile open run and three-mile walk begins at 8:30 a.m. in front of the Bethel Inn Resort. We are still accepting registrations for the races right up until post time, but only the first 150 registrants are guaranteed a commemorative t-shirt.

Many thanks to the following sponsors for helping us put on the race: Key Bank, Pepsi Bottling Group, NTL Institute, Goodwin's Insurance, All Doyle's Cleaning Service, True North Adventureware, Smith & Town Printers and All Sports Events. Stop in to our office to register. We are also seeking volunteers for the event who are guaranteed a t-shirt in exchange for race help. Again, contact our office if you are interested.

Each year, on the common, we have a lobster roll booth that many people look forward to. We are seeking volunteers to help in two-hour shifts. All volunteers are rewarded with a free lobster roll.

All day long we will be selling $5 chances for the Great Duck Race. The grand prizes are a choice of a midweek season pass to Sunday River Ski Resort and an Old Town Otter Kayak provided by Sun Valley Sports and Guide Services. Additionally, we have 28 other prizes to give away to the fastest ducks! At 4 p.m. we move the entire Duck Race operation out to the Artists' Covered Bridge, where the event will be staged. Come buy a duck and join the fun!

After Mollyockett Day, we have a two-week break until the Maine State Triathlon Classic, which is held on Sunday, Aug. 5. New this year is the Inaugural Maine State Kids Triathlon, a non-competitive event starting at 3 p.m. at Angevine swimming pond on the North Road. If you are interested in either of these events, please contact the chamber office.

Also new this year, from Aug. 16-19 is the Inaugural Maine Mountain Corvette Rally. Thursday is an arrival day with an afternoon scenic drive option and meet and greet at the Bethel Inn's Millbrook Tavern, Friday is a scenic drive day, Saturday is a Show and Shine on the Bethel Common, along with a lobster bake (pre-registration required), and Sunday is a Corvette Parade through the Bethel village. There will be more information available on this event in the coming weeks.

From Ellis River Riders

Wow, what a great turnout, Maine Barrel Associatioon riders, team penners (some from Canada) and our faithful followers from ERR too. We gave out $500 in cash prizes to some pretty happy riders.

If you didn't already know, the club is selling raffle tickets on a brand new 2007 Dream Coach Horse Trailer. It is a two-horse bumper pull all aluminum straight load. It retails for almost $12,000. You can see some photos of it on our website at www.ellisriverriders.com. The tickets are $20 each, but we are only selling 1,000 tickets! Pretty good chances, really. DUPLESSIS DRIVES THIS WEEKEND—Rally driver Chris Duplessis of Bethel returns to the woods of Maine and New Hampshire this weekend. Oh my, don't forget Andover Olde Home Days weekend Aug. 4 and 5. Andover explodes with people and fun things to do. There's a parade, photo contests, firemen's muster, antique car show, fried clams, fried fries, fried dough. OK — it's great fun food. The town common is full of vendors too. The club holds an All Games Show under the lights on Saturday night and then on Sunday we hold an Open Show.

Watch for more news, too, on the Best of America by Horseback TV show coming to Andover on Sept. 8 and 9.

Till next time — stay safe and stay on top!

From the Bethel Rotary Club

The Bethel Rotary Club recently concluded its busiest part of the fundraising year.

Thanks to the generosity of the community, the club was again successful in fundraising through the Rotary Golf Challenge and Auction/Yard Sale events.

We would like to thank everyone who participated or donated items for sale or auction. The two events fund scholarships for area students and many other community projects.

The new Rotary year began July 1, with a new slate of officers taking over responsibilities. They include: President Pat Roma, President-Elect Mike Steven, Vice President Robin Zinchuk, Secretary Jim Reuter, Treasurer Michele Varuolo and Sergeant-at-Arms Rene McGrew.

Jim, Michele and Rene continue in the same offices they have held over the past year.

Concluding her year as president was Cynthia Moran-Laux. The members of the club thank her for her hard work.

Kamil Sahin of The Victoria recently joined our club. We welcome him.

What does Rotary do?

The Rotary Club of Bethel is very active in local community service projects and in providing financial support for other area organizations. In recent years the club has funded a town clock for Bethel and the construction of bridges at Camp Susan Curtis in Stoneham.

Annually, the club sponsors a Christmas Senior Citizen luncheon and distributes Christmas gifts to needy area children with its Christmas for Children effort.

The club supports graduating high school seniors by awarding more than $7,000 in scholarships annually.

We also support cultural exchanges with foreign countries for area students and adults. And as part of Rotary International projects, we provide funds for medical services for Polio Plus (polio immunization) and Rotoplast (surgery for children with cleft lip).

In addition, we fund our own individual overseas projects, such as a water system for a school in Kenya, and a portable dental unit for Uruguay.

Regular fundraising activities include several annual events: an auction/yard sale; a golf tournament; two country breakfasts; and food booths at several community events.

We are happy to have interested individuals join us for breakfast on Tuesday mornings. For more information contact Steve Wight at 824-2410.

CAR WASH FOR THE COMMUNITY

On Saturday, the Youth Group and other members of the Bethel Alliance Church held a free car wash at the church, located on Route 26. One taker was next door neighbor Robert Lowell, who brought his pickup truck over. Washers are, from left, Matt Duka, Annie Pivin, Josh Mowery, Pastor Kevin Bellinger and sign-holder Chelsea Bean.

From Oxford County Democrats

Oxford County Democrats will hold three regional meetings during July to focus on grassroots organizing for the 2008 election cycle.

The first meeting will be held at the Denmark Library on Thursday, July 12, at 5:30 p.m., followed by meetings on Wednesday, July 18, at the Mexico Town Hall at 5:30 p.m., and on Monday, July 23, at Fare Share Common in Norway at 6:30 p.m. The meetings are open to all interested in electing Democrats.

Those planning to attend are asked to RSVP by calling County Chair Cathy Newell at 875-2116 or by e-mailing cathyn@megalink.net.

Pizza will be featured in Denmark and Mexico and dessert in Norway.

Sunday, Aug. 26, is the date for the Oxford County Democrats Summer BBQ and Family Fun Day at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond.

The facilities are open to families attending and the County Committee expects an excellent turnout from state leaders.

Response to the electronic newsletter has been excellent. The most recent issue featured a report from the Oxford County groups that traveled to Kennebunkport for the rally on July 1. Those wishing to be added to the distribution list may contact Cathy Newell. The County Committee website is www.oxforddems.org.

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Over 500 attended the 2007 Fourth of July Community Picnic on the grounds of Bethel Historical Society's Dr. Moses Mason House on July 4. Once more the Portland Brass Quintet entertained with a variety of American music during a two-hour concert. The Quintet has been playing at this event since its inception in 1993.

Prior to the musical portion of the program, Brigadier General (Ret.) Russ Howard of Bethel, who serves as a commentator for Fox News on terrorism and national security issues, addressed the audience with appropriate remarks on this celebration of the 231st national birthday. General Howard is also a Senior Fellow at the Joint Special Operations University in Hurlburt Field, a senior adviser to the Singapore

Director for Homeland Security, and the president of Howard's Global Solutions in Bethel.

In his remarks, the General praised the vision of the Founders in establishing this nation and paid tribute to those who have carried the light of freedom to the present day. Following his remarks, the color guard of Mundt-Allen Post 81 American Legion of Bethel presented the colors, followed by a playing of the national anthem by the Portland Brass Quintet.

Much appreciation is expressed to everyone whose generosity made possible this event that some have termed "the highlight of the summer in Bethel."

Tours of Bethel Hill

For the second year in a row, society life member and historian David Jones will conduct guided tours of portions of Bethel Hill Village each Saturday morning during July and August. Jones will provide background on the founding of the town and the reasons why people from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and southern Maine established this village in the 1770s. During the tour, he will point out interesting and unusual examples of domestic and commercial architecture, while also mentioning some of the changes that have taken place in and around Bethel Hill over the past 230 years. All walking tours will begin at 11 a.m. (rain or shine) at the fire bell tower on the north end of the village Common.

CAMP UNDERWAY AT WINONA—More than 385 campers representing approximately 30 states and 25 countries arrived recently at Winona camps for boys in Bridgton to begin the traditional summer camp's 100th anniversary season. Pictured here are (from left): Zach, Mitch and Griff Lehman and Associate Director Spencer Ordway, all of Bethel. Zach, development director at Gould Academy, also attended Winona as a boy. Spencer's parents, Alan and Michelle Ordway, have owned and operated the camp for nearly 40 years. Boys ages 7 to 17 will sleep in cabins or platform tents on the shores of Moose Pond, just like campers did nearly 100 years ago. Days will be spent on a variety of active pursuits, from playing sports and exploring the outdoors to swimming, sailing and horseback riding. The counselors, more than 90 percent of whom return from the previous summer, serve as role models. For many, the camper-counselor relationship evolves into a life-long mentorship. Winona, one of the longest operating summer camps in North America, has been owned by only two families over its 100 years. In 1908, the camp was established by the Cobb family. Alan and Michelle Ordway took ownership of Winona in 1968. Thanks to a restoration campaign initiated 10 years ago in preparation for the centennial, the camp's 1923 and 1924 Old Town war canoes have been restored, and its newly refurbished 1942 Mack fire engine is ready to ride. Winona's three-tiered tree house has been rebuilt, and many of the camp's buildings and facilities have been renovated.

NANCY C. PHILBROOK

Nancy C. Philbrook, 85, of Shelburne, N.H., passed away on Thursday, July 5, 2007 at the Sunbridge Care and Rehabilitation Center in North Conway, N.H.

She was born in Bangor, on Nov. 17, 1921, the daughter of Lawrence E. and Helen M. (Day) Philbrook, and has resided in the area all of her life. She was a graduate of Gould Academy in Bethel, and the University of Maine at Orono.

RUSSELL F. YATES

Russell F. "Joe" Yates, 85, of South Paris, died July 8, 2007 at Stephens Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for two days.

He was born in Millettville on Feb. 1, 1922, the son of Eva (Hayes) and Estes G. Yates. He graduated from Woodstock High School in 1941. During his high school years he became a part of every prize speaking contest and won a few. He later became known for the varied monologues he would recite, all dressed up for the occasion, be it a farmer or a friendly neighbor lady come to comfort a poor dying soul. These provided much fun and laughter for the audiences, especially on one occasion when the bed broke while he was comforting the poor soul.

After graduating from high school, he went to work on the farm for Leslie Estes in South Paris. He contracted undulant fever from the cattle (very similar to rheumatic fever) and was very ill for a period of time. This was the beginning of his heart problems that troubled him in varying degrees for the rest of his life.

He worked at Bryant's IGA in Bethel for several years Hanover Dowel Co., Cozy Inn Nursing Home cooking During the late 1940s and 1950s he worked testing milk throughout the state. He worked cooking or baking in Florida, the Balsams, the Waumbec and in a restaurant owned and operated by his sister, Linona "Peggy" and her husband Clayton.

He joined the Grange when he was 14 years old and was still an active member of Franklin Grange 124 in Bryant Pond and Oxford Pomona Grange 2.

He is survived by two sisters Linona "Peggy" Blake of South Paris and Laura Hutchins of East Andover as well as many nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by three brothers Lawrence, Carroll "Tom" and Bryce Yates; two sisters Georgie "Becky" Haines and Viva Whitman; and his parents.

Memorial services will be held at the Andrews Funeral Home, 64 Andrews Road, South Woodstock on Saturday July 14, at 10:30 a.m., with Pastor Lloyd Waterhouse officiating. Burial will be in the Middle Intervale Cemetery, East Bethel at 2:30 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Heart Association, Maine Affiliate, Inc., 51 US Route 1 Suite M, Scarborough, ME 04074 or to the Franklin Grange #124, c/o Laura Hutchins Secretary, P.O. Box 573, East Andover, ME 04226.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

ANTICIPATE THE WALK-THROUGH

Buyers will have an opportunity to walk through the home they are purchasing just before the settlement to make sure it is in the same condition as when the contract was ratified.

For the first time, buyers see their new home empty, just after the movers have taken everything out. Suddenly they notice the dark rectangles and nail holes where pictures used to hang, and all the "dust bunnies" on the floor. While the contract calls for the house to be "broom clean" and basically free of trash and debris, Realtors encourage sellers to leave their homes impeccably clean for the walk-through, and many homes are turned over in spotless condition. Sometimes a hectic moving schedule, fatigue, or different housekeeping standards result in the buyers feeling the need to clean the house thoroughly before they move in. If you are afraid that a messy house could trigger problems at the settlement, be sure to make your house shine for this important inspection.

Card of Thanks

I wanted to thank relatives and friends for coming to my retirement party. It was a complete surprise! We had a delicious pot luck meal at Songo Pond. The cards and gifts were much appreciated. I also would like to mention the great gifts I received at the mill on my last day at Hancock.

Alvin Stevens
Bethel

In Memory of Sylvia Tutko

Days turn to months, months into years.

Missing your quick wit, smiling face.

My eyes fill with tears.

Sitting at your table talking late at night, will never be.

Times when I look in the mirror, it's not me that I see.

It's you, Sis, looking back at me.

Know that I love you to the very end.

I miss you so much, you are my very best friend.

Love you always,
Rocky, Scott, Charles,
Carolyn, Devon, Frank,
Del, Gary, Janette & Dee

In Memory of Sylvia Tutko

Syl,

Two years too long since I've heard your voice and seen the kindness in your soft blue eyes. Two years too many since we've laughed together. Know every thought of you brings a smile... followed by tears for my loss of a great friend.

Comforted only by memories and the hope of our souls reuniting.

Still deeply loved,
and forever sadly missed,

Pennsylvania Dana

Card of Thanks

Thank you to Northeast Bank employees, friends, family, and customers for my retirement party, June 6, 2007.

Over my 25 years working at Bethel Savings/Northeast Bank, I have felt a part of a wonderful community.

"Life takes us down many different paths."

I can now move to my next path with hope to continue my friendships in the Bethel community.

See you at the Post Office,
Cheryl Burnham
